

CASE STUDY

'Sword Dance'

Kent Ullberg, Sculptor

International Game Fish Association Hall of Fame

Located in Hollywood, Florida, this sixty foot broadbill swordfish sculpture is prominently displayed at the entrance of the IGFA.

Problem: Maintaining the beauty of the stainless steel, keeping the sculpture clean from air-borne contamination, including salt spray, and free from corrosion.

Solution: The sculpture was cleaned and then sealed with MicroGuard AD95 Clear Corrosion Protector. The covalently bonded, reacted siloxane film retards tarnishing, corrosion and positively blocks electrolytes.
